CLEVELAND, Jan. 10, 2017 /PRNewswire/ -- Consolidated Precision Products Corp. ("CPP"), a leading manufacturer of highly-engineered castings and sub-assemblies primarily for the commercial aerospace, industrial gas turbine, and defense markets, today announced the appointments of Keith Dabbs as Chief Operating Officer for North America and Roy Showman as Chief Financial Officer.

Keith Dabbs joins CPP with more than 20 years of industry experience. Most recently he served as the Chief Operating Officer for MB Aerospace, where his global responsibilities included management of facilities in the U.S., England, Scotland and Poland. Dabbs' prior experience also includes more than 12 years at Precision Castparts, including the role of Vice President and General Manager. Dabbs has demonstrated success in executive leadership, operations management, and profit and loss responsibility.

Prior to joining CPP, Roy Showman spent 14 years at General Electric where he served in various finance and operating roles across GE, including GE Aviation. Most recently, Roy served as Chief Operating Officer for General Electric Digital, and previously served as Chief Financial Officer for GE Intelligent Platforms. In addition, Showman served as Chief Financial Officer at Panther Expedited Services and as an Audit Manager at Deloitte & Touche. Showman has demonstrated success in driving operational excellence, fostering strong controllership and focusing on continuous improvement.

CPP Chief Executive Officer James V. Stewart commented, "On behalf of the management team, it is my privilege to welcome Keith and Roy to the CPP family. Both are recognized leaders in their areas of expertise. Together they bring the right complement of talent and demonstrated leadership abilities to support CPP in achieving our strategic goals and growth objectives."
